Korup Chandelier

Murano petals, light caught mid-bloom

The Korup stacks layers of translucent Murano glass in a petal form around a gold metal frame, so each element catches the light differently — some diffusing, some reflecting, none direct. The effect reads as movement even at rest: depth and shimmer that shift as you move through the room. Available in green, pink, or brown glass across four sizes, with replaceable G9 LEDs and optional dimming.
